INDIAN SUMMER.

Just after the death of the flowers,
And before they are buried in snow,
There comes a festival season,
When nature is all aglow—
Aglow with a mystical splendor
That rivals the brightness of Spring—
Aglow with a beauty more tender
Than aught which fair Summer could bring.

Some spirit akin to the rainbow
Then borrows its magical dyes,
And mantles far-spreading landscape
In hues that bewilder the eyes.
The Sun from his cloud-pillowed chamber
Smiles soft on a vision so gay,
And dreams that his favorite children,
The Flowers, have not yet passed away.

There's a luminous mist on the mountains,
A light, azure haze in the air,
As if angels, while heavenward soaring,
Had left their bright robes floating there;
The breeze is so soft, so caressing,
It seems a mute token of love,
And floats to the heart like a blessing
From some happy spirit above.

These days, so serene and so charming,
Awaken a dreamy delight—
A tremulous, tearful enjoyment,
Like soft strains of music at night;
We know they are fading and fleeting,
That quickly, too quickly, they'll end,
And we watch them with yearning affection,
As at parting we watch a dear friend.

Oh! beautiful Indian Summer!
Thou favorite child of the year—
Thou darling whom Nature enriches
With gifts and adornments so dear!
How fain would we woo thee to linger
On mountain and meadow awhile,
For our hearts, like the sweet haunts of Nature,
Rejoice and grow young in thy smile.

Not alone to the sad fields of Autumn
Dost thou a lost brightness restore,
But thou bringest a world-weary spirit
Sweet dreams of childhood once more.
Thy loveliness fills us with memories
Of all that was brightest and best—
Thy peace and serenity offer
A foretaste of heavenly rest.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

A STRANGE INSTANCE OF ITS UNCERTAINTY.

A letter from Plattsburg to the Albany Evening Journal gives particulars of a supposed murder which are very remarkable. They relate to the case of a man supposed to have been murdered in 1856, a dead body found and identified as his, and the arrest and virtual conviction of his supposed murderer. We extract the following particulars:

In the latter part of June, 1856, Captain John G. Weatherwax, attended by his cousin, Andrew Weatherwax, sailed in a lake boat from Plattsburg for a Canadian port. Having discharged his cargo he came with his boat to Pike river, a stream or estuary, that empties into or connects with Lake Champlain, just beyond the Canada line, and upon the east side of the lake. At Pike river there was a settlement of considerable extent, and a wharf at which the boat conveniently moored. Here Captain Weatherwax was to obtain a lading of wood, with which to freight his boat and return to Plattsburg.

During the day the two had a violent quarrel, which was witnessed by a man employed on the boat. It was at its height about 8 o'clock, both persons threatening each other. At length "there came through the darkness to the ear of the listener the sound of a dull, heavy thud, as of a powerful blow with some heavy weapon crushing through the skull, and all was still. Soon after this the captain came aft, but without his cousin." Next morning the hat of Andrew, and blood near it, was found on the forward deck of the vessel. The captain was moody and taciturn, and did not speak of his cousin. The captain of another boat, a little distance off, also heard the altercation and the blows.

After his return to Plattsburg, Captain Weatherwax gave no satisfactory answer to the inquiries for the missing man. On the very spot at Pike river where his boat had been moored, the dead body of a man, recently killed, was taken from the water. The man had evidently come to his death by violence, for his skull was crushed as if by a fearful blow from a murderous weapon in the hands of a vigorous assailant. The body was identified. The man recognized it as being beyond a question or a doubt the man who had been missing from the boat, as Andrew, the cousin of of Captain Weatherwax.

The Captain was arrested, Mr. S. D. M. Beckwith issuing the warrant on the 8th of July. The preliminary examination brought out the most conclusive evidence of his guilt. There was no doubt of his conviction. His ingenious counsel bethought themselves of the resources of international law and treaties. They succeeded in establishing themselves in the position, that inasmuch as this affair had taken place in Canada, neither the authorities of Plattsburg nor of Clinton county, nor yet of the State of New York, had anything to do with the matter.

One of them, Mr. McMasters, then recommended his client to flee from his native country, to change his name and appearance, to go to the end of some unfrequented [illegible] identity concealed, to lead a new and different life. But the captain would not accept this advice. In the face of his accusers and of all the world, he steadily and persistently declared his entire innocence, and refused to budge a single inch from his accustomed round of business.

The matter acquired a wide notoriety, and the British authorities made a requisition upon the government of the United States for his surrender. William L. Marcy was then Secretary of State, and upon his warrant, dated December 9, 1856, Captain Weatherwax was again arrested. He was taken at once to Montreal, and there closely confined in jail.

His counsel, Mr. McMasters, adhered to him with rare fidelity. He could not be permitted to conduct the case, in a foreign dominion, but he gave the best advice in his power. The efforts put forth were desperate. Testimony seems to have been procured and used which was not deserving credence. It is probable that some one tampered with the jury. Captain Weatherwax remained in prison at Montreal about a year. He was tried twice. The jury failed to agree the first time, and the next one acquitted him under direction of the judge, who ruled the evidence insufficient. The Captain returned home to Plattsburg, branded with the implication of murder. His relatives shunned him, and repeatedly accused him of the crime. Nevertheless he continued for ten long years to assert his innocence.

Early in the present month intelligence was brought to his counsel, Mr. McMasters, that Andrew Weatherwax, the man supposed to have been murdered, had returned to Plattsburg. He refused to credit the story till, on the 7th inst., the man came into the village, and showed himself alive.

He gave the following account of himself: He left the boat that night in a state of partial intoxication, and in a very irritable mood. Going to a rum shop he soon became embroiled in a quarrel, was arrested, brought before a magistrate and fined. Not having the money to pay the fine, he was about being placed in close confinement, when a man stepped forward and offered to take him as a seaman, giving an advance of wages to pay the fine. Andrew accepted, and was speedily shipped on an English vessel. He went as a common sailor to China, to Australia, and to various parts of the world in different vessels. He returns now and learns, for the first time, of his supposed death by violence.

Many years ago an event of similar character took place in Vermont. Two brothers were convicted of murdering a man, and, preparations had been made for their execution, when the individual, who appears to have been half-witted, returned to the town. They were, accordingly, released.

A WONDERFUL CLOCK.

We clip the following paragraph from a very interesting foreign correspondence to the Boston Journal, headed "From Germany to Italy:"

ZURICH, SWITZ., Sep. 1, 1867.

Our next stopping place was Strasbourg, on the French side of the Rhine. The cathedral here is of red sandstone and is very large. The spire is very elaborate and runs up to the enormous height of 474 feet, said to be the highest in the world. The interior of the cathedral is quite plain, and contains the wonderful clock that has made Strasbourg celebrated the world over. It is in one corner of the cathedral and is certainly a curiosity. A crowd collects in front of it every day at twelve o'clock to see it go through its performances. The clock indicates eclipses of the sun and moon, days of the week and month, rise and setting of the sun and moon each day, and various other astronomical calculations. It keeps a figure of the sun and moon in motion, and each day of the week is represented by a chariot with horses, which comes out of one side of the gallery, and, during the day, passes around to the other side and disappears. Two little angels sit in front of the clock; one strikes a bell every quarter of an hour, and the other at noon reverses the hour-glass which he holds in his hands. In the gallery above, a skeleton, with scythe in one hand and bell in the other, stands in the centre. From a little door at the side four figures, boyhood, youth, manhood and old age, issue; one each quarter of the hour march across the gallery, strike the bell and walk very naturally to the door on the other side and disappear. At twelve at noon the skeleton strikes the hour upon his bell, and old age comes out and strikes the four quarters and retires. Below the angel reverses his hour glass. And above, in the upper gallery of all, the twelve apostles march out in succession and bow to the Saviour as they pass Him, who raises his hand to each in the act of blessing them. They pass on and disappear on the other side. On a pillar at the side a cock flaps his wings and crows loudly and very naturally three times. The clock was four years building and is decidedly unique. The figures are about a foot in height.

"I SAY," said a wag to a tall youth, "wasn't there a tall tree in front of your father's house?" "Why so?" inquired the young fellow. "Because you look so thundering green I reckoned you must have been brought up in the shade."

A ROMANTIC LIFE.

A woman died recently in the Nashville almshouse, who was at one time the wife of the famous Ned. Buntline, and at another the mistress of Ben. McCulloch, the Texan Ranger. The date of her registry was "July the 26th." The name entered was "Martha Leguire." But she went by various pseudonyms, and was originally a Cuban, born at Havana, and raised in New Orleans. Her true name was Mary Cordova.

The story of her life is rather romantic. Her father was a tobacconist, and the first mention made of her was when she was a girl fourteen or fifteen years of age, when she was known in the Crescent City as "the pretty cigar girl of Canal street." She attended at the patriarchal shop, both wrapped and sold the choicest principes, and added to her charms and her reputation by an exceedingly coy modesty that defied assault.

Buntline, before he came to Nashville and was involved in the fearful tragedy that is associated with his name, lived a thriftless, dare-devil life in Texas, on the prairies, upon the gulf coast, and about New Orleans. He was a handsome young fellow of obscure origin, ready talent, neat address and varied accomplishmen s

His meeting with the pretty cigar girl was an accident, and his suit was long and difficult. At last he had to marry her, and three weeks after the marriage the couple suddenly disappeared. There are various accounts of their absence. It was said that the "Captain," as Ned. was then called, (he is a General now,) commanded a brig in the Caribean seas, and did business as an active and fearless pirate. It was reported that he had gone to Texas to see Judge Wartrous, and claim the fortune left by Lafitte. It was sworn to in court that he had retired on the proceeds of a faro bank, in which he was interested, and fitted him up a ranche at Corpus Christi. Most likely the latter is the correct version.

In 1847, when McCulloch appeared at the head of the scouts or rangers, by which Old Zack set such store, he had with him an orderly, remarkable for his retiring, modest disposition; his intelligence, and his handsome girlish face. This orderly, it will be remembered, accompanied him through the campaign, being wounded in front of Perote, and left with the monks of Santa Cruz at the old convent near Parede's hacienda. McCulloch was always careful of the secret, but somehow it leaked out. The orderly was a person of the tender sex; was, in fact, the pretty cigar girl of Canal street.

When the ranger had found her, how the pirate had become separated from her, are points on which we are unable to enlighten the reader. McCulloch never saw her again. He left her at Perote, was wounded himself at Cherubusco, conveyed to Vera Cruz, and thence ordered to Washington. Whether he ever made an effort to regain his lost orderly is unknown. She remained at the monastery for nearly ten years.

Not yet shorn of her beauty, she appeared in the city of Managua, Central America, at the time of the entrance of General Henningsen, and there made the acquaintance of a gambling filibuster, well known in New Orleans and Nashville, whom she accompanied to the States. Her descent from a monastery to a monte table, and from a gambling hell to a common brothel, and from infamy to pauperism, was very gradual, but also very sure.

She found herself, during the winter of 1865, at the close of the war, in Nashville. She had been sent North from Atlanta by Sherman, when he depopulated that city, first to Cincinnati and then to Louisville. The last act of an eventful career opened in a little out-house of Nashville. For a few weeks she employed herself as a sewing woman, but give way to drink, and, after the customary seasons of arrest and punishment, relapsed into hopeless mendicancy, and finally into the poorhouse.

Here she died and hence she was carried to an unmarked grave. One who saw her after the body was decently clad for interment represents that she presented a most beautiful but saddening spectacle. The traces of the original charm that had singled her out of a city full of Creole girls still remained, though dim and marred by the signs of want and sorrow and dissipation that overspread them.

We give the story, such as it is, as one of the illustrations that now and then occur in common life, representing the more romantic side of familiar things. It is more suggestive than complete or satisfactory, and will recall a train of events to the minds of some readers. Two of the parties, at least, mentioned in it are well known to the general public. The principal is, indeed, known only to a few, and they, the vicious, who knew her for no good, and the charitable, who knew her only to minister to her the last offices of nature and of nature's God.

A GOOD STORY is told of a fellow at a cattle show who was making himself ridiculously conspicuous by an evident intention of finding fault with everything. At last he burst forth with:

"Call these prize cattle? Why, they ain't nothing to what our folks raised! My father raised the biggest calf of any man round our parts!"

"Don't doubt it," was the timely remark

NOTED IMPOSTORS.

Men have always been fond of power and influence; and when they could not be obtained by legitimate means, have resorted to tricks and impostures. A few of the more celebrated of these impositions may not prove uninteresting to our readers.

Albert, in the eighth century, pretended that he had a letter from the Redeemer, which fell from Heaven at Jerusalem, and thus induced multitudes to follow him.

Gonsalvo Michael pretended to be the angel Michael, and was burnt for his heresy by the Spanish Inquisition, in 1680.

George David, the son of a waterman at Ghent, styled himself the nephew of God, sent into the world to adopt children worthy of Heaven. He denied the resurrection, preached against marriage, in favor of a community of women, and taught that the body could only be defiled by sin.

Sabbata Levi, a Jew of Smyrna, pretended to be the Saviour, in 1666.

Elizabeth Barton, known as the Holy Maid of Kent, pretended to be inspired, and foretold that Henry VIII. would have an early and violent death if he divorced Catherine of Arragon and married Anne Boleyn. She and her accomplice were hanged in 1534.

In the first year of Queen Mary's reign in England, Elizabeth Croft, a girl of 18 years of age, was secreted in a wall, and there uttered many seditious speeches against the queen, and the mass and the confession. She was called the Spirit of the Wall.

William Hacket, a fanatic, personated our Saviour, and was executed for blasphemy, in England, in 1591.

James Naylor also represented himself to be the Saviour. He was convicted of blasphemy, whipped and had his tongue bored through with a hot iron, by order of the House of Commons during Cromwell's administration.

The Cock lane ghost is often alluded to by writers of the last century. William Parsons and his wife were the authors of this imposture, in 1762. They had a female ventriloquist, by whose aid they made a credulous multitude believe in the existence of a ghost, at the house No. 38 Cock lane, London. The parties were punished by imprisonment and in the pillory.

In the United States, Matthias is the most celebrated impostor on record. He professed to be the Messiah, obtained many followers, and was tried for blasphemy, in New York, in the year 1880.

A MYSTERIOUS HAIR CUTTER.—The Evansville (Ind.) Courier tells the following marvellous story:

One of the most mysterious circumstances we have ever seen recorded occurred in Goodsellville yesterday morning—a woman's hair being cut from her head by an unknown hand. We learn the following particulars of this strange affair from a gentleman who saw the hair which was cut from the lady's head: "As Miss Meyer, a daughter of J. Meyer, residing in Goodsellville, was going up in a stable loft for some purpose or other, and when half way up the ladder, she felt something touch her on the back of the head. She paid no attention to this, but continued her way up. Again she felt it, and more sensibly—this time feeling a keen cut through her hair. She fell to the floor of the stable with a sharp scream, which brought the family to her rescue. On an examination it was discovered that the braids of her hair had been cut off—her hair being done up in two braids. The hair was cut about four inches from the skin, and could not have been done with a scissor, as she would have felt that instrument. The family, on coming to the girl's assistance, searched the premises, but could find nobody or nothing to indicate that any person had been in the loft, though there is an opening on the inside, through which a person could jump out. The young lady herself neither saw nor heard anything. The braid of her hair was found afterwards in the stable. It had the appearance of being cut even, and with a sharp instrument. This is indeed a strange case."

THE FIRST MASS IN AMERICA.—Wherever Columbus went he had Mass performed. It must have been a strange sight to the rude and trembling natives to witness this imposing ceremonial of the church of Rome. At Havana a chapel still exists on the spot where the natives first witnessed this grand and novel sight—where for the first time that name which is above every name, and to which every knee shall bow, was first heard in America. At Isabella, in Hayti, the pillars of the first church still remain. At the present day it is quite overgrown with forest, and in the midst of this forest are still to be seen, partly standing, the pillars of the church, some remains of the king's storehouses, and part of the residence of Columbus—all built of stone.

THE mountains of Segar, in Arabia, produce frank-incense; and those of Safra, the balm of Mecca from the amyris opobasanum, which in the early ages sold for its weight in gold.

EARTH is eaten as bread in several parts of the world. Near Moscow, a hill furnishes earth of this description, which

A Legend of the Great Eastern.

There is a wild legend in connection with the Great Eastern steamship, the origin of which I do not know, but the shipwrights firmly believe in it. So much has been written about the construction of this famous vessel, that the slightest allusion to it here will suffice. She is a ship with two cases, or skins, as they are called; that is, she is almost like one ship fitted inside another. Between the inner and outer skins the workmen can crawl for repairs. Dreadfully dark and sepulchral, of course, it is in there, for from the nature of the space, the workman must be completely closed in, excepting at the spot at which he enters. Very few smiths or shipwrights would care to work in there alone, for two terrible spectres are supposed to haunt the place. Almost all the men who were engaged in the construction of the vessel believe that, somewhere there in the darkness and thick air, lie two skeletons which never can be found till the vessel is broken up. These are the remains of a smith and his riveter, the latter being a lad. During the construction of the vessel these two worked all through the week, keeping full time, and their work lay in between the skins. The smith was an elderly man, of a moody temper, who made no friends, and was not popular with his mates. No one had seen him leaving work; nobody was interested about him. But one pay-day both he and his lad failed to appear at the pay-table to draw their money. They never were heard of any more by any one who worked on the Great Eastern. Of course their absence was noticed by the time keeper and other officials; but the missing men being as I have said, unpopular with their comrades, there had been very little inquiry about them until it was found that their money was not claimed. It was then soon noted that the last time they had been seen they were at work in the "case" of the ship, and before long it became a fixed notion that by a fall, or by the effect of some vapor, the two men had been killed, or stunned until closed in, and all the host of men who worked at the great ship believed that somewhere in the vast hulk there lay two skeletons which for some reason could never be found; the prosaic idea that the old fellow and his helper had left without warning for a better job, finding, of course, no favor.—Cassell's Magazine.

A SECOND EVANGELINE.—On the steamer which recently passed up to Montana was a young girl of scarce eighteen, who goes to the distant land of gold to meet her affianced. Four years ago she met and loved a young student in a German university. Their trysting place might not have been at "Bingen on the Rhine," but 'twas just such a romantic spot not many leagues distant. Her attachment was reciprocated, and troth was plighted. Three years since the bridegroom came to America, and sought his fortune amid the placers of Montana, shortly securing a lucrative position as superintendent of a successful mining company. A few weeks ago a brief message darted across the continents and three thousand miles of ocean in a single day, and found this beautiful, unsophisticated girl surrounded by all the endearments of a home of wealth and refinement. It told her that near the far-off shores of the Pacific some one waited her coming. A few days later and she was rocking upon the bosom of the broad Atlantic, and later still she disembarked in a strange land, the language and customs of whose people were new to her. She is now slowly and happily ascending the Missouri, confident that her bridegroom is expecting her, having traveled alone from the banks of the Baltic to meet him. Suppose he should have died during her journey! What then? —[St. Joseph Union.

ASTONISHED RED MEN.—A band of Indians made a sudden attack on a detachment of our soldiers in the mountains. The soldiers had a mountain howitzer mounted on a mule. Not having time to take it off and put in position, they backed up the mule and let drive at the Indians. The load was so heavy that the mule and all went down the hill towards the savages, who, not understanding that kind of warfare, fled like deers. Afterward one of them was captured, and when asked why he ran so, replied: "Me big Injin, not afraid of little guns nor big guns, but when white man load up and fire a whole jackass at Injin, me don't know what to do." —Nashville Press.

CHINESE PROVERBS.—What is told in the ear is often heard a hundred miles.

Riches come better after poverty than poverty after riches.

Who aims at excellence will be above mediocrity; who aims at mediocrity will fall short of it.

Old age and faded flowers no remedies will revive.

Conversations with Great Men.

A custom has been gaining ground for some years which, it seems to us, would be "more honored in the breach than the observance." A correspondent of a city daily, with an abundance of leisure on his hands, sets himself down before some leading politician, and having obtained leave to interrogate him on the most important issues of the day, ventilates his opinions in the organ for which he is a contributor.

This process of ascertaining and publishing conversations of distinguished men acquired its growth during the rule of President Lincoln, and scarcely a week passed without some of these persistent publishers reaching the sanctum sanctorum of the President, and obtaining the views of the great joker for general circulation.

Since his demise the same thing has been indulged in with regard to President Johnson, and kept up with wonderful pertinacity to the present time. More recently these itinerant enlighteners of the public mind are flitting all over the country, and collecting the opinions of every Radical who has any opinions for the public eye.

Not long since Thaddeus Stevens was called upon, and the state of health of the Father of the Radicals was such that his sayings had almost the force of death-bed confessions. The result of the visit to the great Amalgamator was the publication of a column of trash that nobody believed, interspersed with an occasional fact that the whole world knew as well as Thad. His rhapsody about negro equality and confiscation, and all that, found no response in the public mind, while his assertion that Radical corruption was ruining the country and that Governor Geary was a great failure, was just as well understood without the addition of his testimony.

In like manner Wendell Phillips, Ben. Butler, and other secondary Radical lights, have contributed to the general political gossip of the day. Thus far, however, while much that was silly and purile got before the public, there was nothing really offensive to morality and decency.

But one of this travelling fraternity must needs call upon old Ben. Wade, who is a profane old curse, and at a very inoppertune time, too—on the heels of the great radical defeat in Ohio. And we have old Ben. Wade's conversation, with every oath recorded with due emphasis, paraded in the papers of the day. The conversation, without the expletives, would fill an ordinary newspaper column, but the oaths make it nearly one half longer.

Old Ben. reiterates his love for the negro, and swears most lustily that we must stand by the negro as he has stood by us, while he acknowledges that weak-kneed politicians will go back on the rads. since the reaction in public sentiment.

He is terribly down on the non-committal course of General Grant; says that he—even he—called upon Grant for the very purpose of drawing him out, but that when he talked politics Grant talked horse, and therefore he considered U. S. a better horseman than politician. He winds up a long rigmarole by attacking, without gloves, Mrs. Lincoln, alleging that she purloined largely from the White House, and that, from the multitude of boxes which she removed clandestinely from the Presidential mansion, he gloried in the belief that she was going to open a tavern in the West.

Taking the whole conversation, it is but charitable to the gentleman from Ohio to suppose that it was an after dinner conversation, and that the distinguished gentleman was (to use a Hibernicism,) after his accustomed post prandial potations.

But we did not intend, in the outset, so much to retail these "sayings" as to protest against the practice, and to hope that if we must have them, we shall hereafter get them clear of profanity and obscenity.

Our Enormous Taxes.

It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt, by the most accurate statistics, that no people upon the face of the earth are burdened to the same extent by taxation as are the people of the United States at the present time, notwithstanding the fact that our country enjoys the blessings of peace throughout its entire borders.

The taxes levied and collected by the general government alone, during the year 1866, reached the enormous sum of five hundred and sixty million dollars. Add to this amount the State, county, and other taxes to which we are subject, and it is fair to estimate that not less than one thousand million dollars are annually taken from the pockets of the tax-payers to maintain the miserable boon of a bad government with which the nation is unfortunately cursed in our day and generation.

Everything we eat, drink and wear—everything required by the daily wants of national government, while the State and municipal governments have to be maintained at a sacrifice of treasure never before known, perhaps, in the history of society. Was this immense outlay necessary to the legitimate purposes of a popular system of government, it would not be felt to the same extent as an incubus upon the energies and incomes of a submissive people, but when we see a great portion of the revenue squandered for no other purpose than to maintain the ascendancy of a party which has outraged every principle of free government, and still seeks to crush out the last vestige of liberty and rear in its stead negro supremacy and Congressional despotism, it is little wonder indeed that the people cry out against the onerous burdens that have been forced upon them.

But the sum totals given above do not present the worst aspect of the case. As the New York Herald justly remarks, the figures show only what was paid in, only what found its way to the government coffers, and that may have been the smaller part of what was taken from the people. Tax-gatherers with us are corrupt beyond all possible precedent. Popular opinion hardly makes the distinction between a revenue officer and a thief. Stealing in place is so common, so general, it is so much a recognized fact that this class of functionary seeks position only to acquire a sudden fortune, that no one of them any longer feels called upon to deny it through any supposed necessity to seem honest. From remote times the tax-gatherer was a scoundrel, publicans were robbers and the friends of robbers, and the Christian text classes "the publican and the taxgatherer" as one in repute and performance; and those old fellows stole a measure of cummin, may be, or a skin of wine, Perhaps some fellow of unusual boldness here and there may have taken a talent of silver. What pigmies of plunder! Hundreds of thousands of dollars make the small dust in the balance of our revenue collectors, and a place is hardly worth the intrigues by which it is gained if it does not promise a round million above all contingencies for a term.

RELIQUES.

We have on our table before us a batch of ancient papers which has been handed us by a friend. They show how things were done "forty years ago," and possess interest to the politician and the literateur.

First in order is the "United States Telegraph," with its motto "Power is always stealing from the many to the few," by Duff Green, dated Washington City, Dec. 26, 1827. It was a daily paper, full of political matter and "nothing else," bristling up for the campaign of 1828, and ventilating very freely the alleged "bargain and sale" between John Quincy Adams and Henry Clay. Another number of the same paper contains an article of more than a page, abusive of Daniel Webster.

Then we have the "Washington Gazette," of Feb. 27, 1824, a Federal organ, and bitterly hostile to the claims of Gen. Jackson to the Presidency. It argues strongly against the danger of entrusting the civil administration of our government to a "military chieftain."

Next is John Binns' "Democratic Press," published in Philadelphia, bearing date January 4th, 1828. It is anti-Jackson and very spicy in its editorials, evincing the biting sarcasm characteristic of its editor.

And lastly, the "Bedford Gazette" of the same date, and about half the size it has since attained under our friend Myers. It was published by Charles McDowell. Its contents are more interesting locally than any of the others. It gives our Legislative proceedings—John Mathews representing Cambria county. It contains the Carrier's New Year's Address—about as bad poetry as we have ever seen. The sheet before us is entirely guiltless of editorial.

So much for the "light of other days."

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.—During the early part of the present week a young married couple, more blessed with honesty and industry than with worldly wealth, left Chicago to seek employment and fortune in the far West. On arriving in this city their small capital was stolen from them by some graceless scamp, and they were compelled to obtain employment at once. The wife obtained a situation as dining-room servant at the Pacific House, and the husband as porter at one of our wholesale establishments. On Wednesday last an elderly gentleman arrived here from Montana, and took quarters at the Pacific. At dinner he was waited on by the young wife, and recognized in her a daughter from whom he had been separated for many years, without knowledge even of her existence. The greeting between parent and child was very affecting, and caused considerable excitement in the dining hall. The best part of the story is that the father, who had started for Montana in straitened circumstances, returned with a most formidable fortune. He started East last night with his daughter and son-in-law, promising them that they should fully share in his good fortune.—St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald.

NO OFFICIAL RETURNS have yet been received from the elections last week, but enough is know to show that the Democrats have gained immensely everywhere. The majority in New York will be about

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—A New Orleans widow, on the sunny side of forty, has just taken to herself an eighth husband.

—Horace Greeley says, in his characteristically mild way, that Thurlow Weed is "an eminent veteran liar."

—A dead child, with one head and two faces, one front and rear, with but one body and four legs, is on exhibition at Albany.

—A man named Michael Conlin is now being tried for cow-stealing in Chicago. The theft of thirteen cows has been proved against him.

—The Rads. used to call Sambo "a man and a brother;" recent experience has made them conclude that he is a "man and a bother."

—One McNeeley ran against time at Terre Haute, Ind., on the first inst. He made three miles in 17 minutes and 37 seconds, winning fifty dollars.

—Virginia has nine and a half millions acres of improved and eleven and a quarter millions acres of unimproved lands. Plenty of room for improvement still.

—Lieutenant Buskirk, of Monroe county, Indiana, is a frail specimen of humanity, standing six feet ten in his stocking feet and weighing four hundred pounds gross.

—An awful boiler explosion took place in Pittsburgh, on Friday morning, at Messrs. Reese, Graff & Dale's mill, by which twenty men were killed and a large number severely injured.

—The oil refinery of Messrs. McKeown & Bro.'s, at Pittsburg, was consumed by fire on Wednesday night. One of the employees of the establishment perished in the flames. Loss, $50,000.

—A couple from the country put up at the Bay State House, in Worcester, Mass., on Saturday, and upon going to bed blew out the gas-jet. They were found insensible in the morning and their lives were saved with difficulty.

—A gentleman in New York has invented an instrument by which counterfeits, however well executed, can be readily detected. If two bonds or notes be printed from different plates, the fact is immediately made apparent.

—An exchange says that when George Francis Train was in Australia, he sent his wife home so that their coming child might be born in the United States and be eligible to the Presidency. The child was born and proved to be a girl.

—The word "Tariff" comes from the old Moorish fortress of Tarifa, on a promontory at the Straits of Gibraltar. The Moors occupying this fortress exacted a duty on all merchandise coming in or going out of the Mediterranean Sea.

—Ned Buntline, otherwise E. Z. C. Judson, is alive, and in a letter to a Nashville paper denies ever having had any connection whatever with the pretty Creole girl whose death as a pauper has been so extensively noticed by the Southern papers.

—A person in Southern Ohio fell into a trance, was buried in a vault, and stayed there two days, when a bright idea struck him. He kicked the lid off and got out. The neighbors shot at him for a ghost, and through much tribulation he finally got back to his own house.

—In three of the States which held elections on Tuesday, United States Senators are to be chosen at the approaching sessions of their Legislatures, In Wisconsin, a successor to Mr. Doolittle; in New York, a successor to Mr. Morgan, and in Maryland to Reverdy Johnson.

—The government has ordered headboards to be put at the graves of the conspirators who are buried in the arsenal grounds for the purpose of identification, The request of their friends for the disinterment of the bodies, in order to give them honorable burial, has been declined.

—In the case of Rev. D. H. Murphy, arrested in St. Louis on the charge of officiating as a minister of the Gospel without first having taken the infamous oath of so called loyalty, the Supreme Court decided the test oath to be null and void, and accordingly ordered the discharge of the prisoner.

—"Bill Arp," the good Union man, so-called, is the Mayor of Rome, Georgia. Mayor Charles H. Smith is a grave, dignified gentleman, and withal a Presbyterian elder. A stranger would never take him for the author of the amusing letters which have given him a world-wide reputation, —Middlebury, Summit county, Ohio, is the Banner Democratic township in Ohio, this year, having given the largest percentage of increased votes on the right side. The Democratic State Committee awarded the township the $200 silk banner. The township gave but four Democratic votes in 1866, and twenty in 1867, being an increase of four hundred per cent.

—A woodsawing tournament came off at Lafayette, Indiana, a few days ago, during which thirty-six cords of wood were sawed for the poor by four contesting parties of nine each. A large crowd with bands of music, attended the contest, and a large sum of money was realized in contributions, admission fees, and from the sale of saws and bucks, at the completion of the contest.

—A letter received in Baltimore from the Dry Tortugas states that the soldiers at that post have unanimously signed a petition to the government for the release of Dr. Mudd, in consequence of his great exertions in attending the yellow fever cases. The letter states that Dr. Mudd deserves the greatest credit for what he has done, and that every soldier on the Key has the greatest confidence in him as a physician.

—The Commissioner of the Land Office is in receipt of a letter from A. W. Attwood, Esq., of London, England, making inquiries relative to obtaining a quantity of land for the settlement of fifty thousand emigrants, whom it is contemplated sending to the United States. The Commissioner has replied referring to the great body of unoccupied lands west of the Mississippi, and the facility for obtaining title to the same, under the provisions of the pre-emption and homestead law, and communicating to the applicant full instructions on the points of enquiry pre-

—Republicans who are scolding at "heavy taxes" should remember that the way to lighten them is to restore the Southern States to their proper condition, so that their industry may help us at the North. There is every prospect of a hard winter for Northern mechanics; but it might have been a profitable one, if the Radicals had not destroyed our Southern market. But taxes will be just as heavy as if the times were good.

—The Pittsburgh Chronicle asserts that there is a lady named Mrs. Hughes now lying at the Homœopathic Hospital, on Second street, helpless, and almost hopeless, who claims to trace her misfortunes to the terrible work of the modern Borgia, Martha Grinder, who expiated her crimes on the scaffold, two years ago. She is utterly prostrated at present with a nervous complaint, which she says is the effects of poison administered to her by Mrs. Grinder.

—Mrs. Wealthy Whipple, relict of Marmaduke Whipple, who was a Revolutionary soldier, is probably the oldest widow now living. Her maiden name was also Whipple, a sister to the late Barnabas Whipple, of Albany. She is also a relative to Wm. Whipple, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. This venerable lady is a resident of Union Village, Washington county, Pa., where she has resided the past eighty years. Her age is 104. She enjoys excellent health, and is quite active. She draws from the Goverument the yearly pension of $96. She ought to have $960 at least. Maybe her Christian name keeps her from getting more,

EXTRAORDINARY BANK ROBBERY.—For some time past Messrs. Pettis & Ingalls, of Tremont, Tazewell county, have been doing a banking business, and have become the depositories of the surrounding business men and farmers. They had established themselves in a snug banking house with a fire-proof vault, and deemed that they were safe from the element or burglars. Within the vault was a large safe, and within that a steel burglar-proof case weighing four or five hundred pounds, which it was deemed impossible for any one to break into.

On Friday morning last, an early riser was passing by the bank and noticed the door standing ajar, an indubitable evidence that a burglary had been committed. The proprietors of the establishment were notified, and on their arrival at the scene of action, an examination was made, and it was found that the outside door of the building had been broken open, the door of the vault was cut through, the safe blown to pieces and the steel case carried away entirely. So far as known, all of this work had been done without alarming any one. It is probable that the burglars arranged their powder in the safe and closed the door of the vault before they ignited it, thus stifling the noise made by the explosion.

The safe contained from one hundred to one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in bonds, notes and cash. The bonds belonged principally to people in moderate circumstances, and were in the nature of special deposits, so Messrs. Pettis & Ingalls will not be responsible for them. The amount of money in the safe belonging to the owners was not large, as they had fortunately made remittances before the burglary was committed, and the greater portion of the loss was in bonds, of various kinds.

The services of the Peoria detectives have been engaged, a despatch sent to Chicago to get assistance from there to ferret out the matter, and word passed along the telegraph lines. Up to yesterday afternoon no clue had been obtained to the perpetrators of the deed, though some arrests had been made on suspicion. The general impression is that the work was done by some one who was not an entire stranger to the premises.—Peoria Democrat, Nov. 3.

A HASTY MARRIAGE.—Improbable as it may seem to some, the statement we are about to make is absolutely true. The incident occurred in Juniata county, only a few weeks ago. A rather good-looking stranger come into the neighborhood, peddling spectacles. Arriving at the house of Mr. ——(Smith we shall call him, for short,) he exhibited his stock to the old lady. She tried several, and finally one suited her exactly, but she had "no money to buy with." Peddler pressed her to buy. She reiterated the fact that she had no money, but jokingly remarked "I'll trade one of my daughters for a pair of spectacles." Upon this the eldest of the girls spoke up—"You needn't trade me, mother, for I won't have him." Thereupon the peddler turned to the younger and said, "Well, will you have me!" The answer was promptly "Yes!" Accordingly the spectacles were handed over, and arrangements at once made for the wedding. That night the happy pair (who had never seen each other before that day) were united in the holy bands of matrimony by Esquire L. A short honeymoon of three days passed pleasantly enough, the peddler going out on a trading expedition each morning and returning faithfully in the evening. All seemed delighted, the old folks as well as the young, the new-made husband being exceedingly amiable and apparently a perfect gentleman. One or two nights he absented himself, but made satisfactory explanation of the circumstance, and besides made additional amends by presenting his wife with a sum of money sufficient to buy a new dress and pair of shoes, both which she very much needed. Another night the family roof covered the gay spectacles man, but that was the last. He took his departure next morning as usual, but failed to return at even, and, (to make a long story short,) has never been seen by the interested parties since. Who he is or where he come from are alike mysteries, and as for the name he went by whilst making his interesting sojourn in Lost Creek Valley, that was probably assumed for the occasion, and will hardly help to discover whither he has gone.—Lewistown Democrat.

COMMUNICATION.

MR. EDITOR—As a friend I wish you to insert what I am about to write, as it may be the means of relieving some poor suffering creature of a painful and distressing affliction, such as the subject of these lines was afflicted with. While in the army I became acquainted with a young gentleman whose kindness and aid during a spell of sickness, served as a great promoter of attachment for him who thus kindly cared for me, though himself wounded at the same time. Years rolled on, the war ended, and we both returned home to follow the bent of our inclinations. And just here permit me to say that I was glad to learn that he had concluded to study medicine with our good friend Dr. R. S. Bunn. Before concluding his studies, his mother, as kind-hearted a farmer's wife as one would meet in a day's travel, became the subject of rheumatic pains, which in spite of all the medical skill applied, grew worse and worse, until finally her limbs became much drawn up and distorted and in an almost hopeless condition she was confined to her bed, enduring such intense suffering and excrutiating pain as only those who have been afflicted in like manner can form any idea of. Finally, the medical course of the son was completed, he received his diploma and located in Carrolltown as a practising physician. And now comes that which I wish to relate. The son undertook to cure his mother, and after a short time the effect of the treatment he adopted could be seen operating in her favor; and as I pen these lines the suffering mother is able to go about the house and rejoice that she has been delivered from her excruciating suffering by the skill of her son, Dr. James J. Oatman. I have written these lines without the knowledge of Mr. Oatman, and have done so for the benefit of afflicted humanity.

Truly yorus, R. H. S.

DESPERATE CONFLICT WITH A MURDERER.—Some time last spring an old lady named Elizabeth McDonald was coolly and deliberately murdered in her own house, in Washington Township, Jefferson County, Pennsylvania, and robbed of $1,000 in gold and some other money and valuables. The crime was committed by two desperate villains, one of whom was arrested soon after, tried, convicted and hung. Before he was hung he said that W. D. Graves was his partner in guilt. The officers of the law have ever since been on his track. The other day he was found in a school house at Cedar Springs, Michigan. The officer entered, and called on him to surrender, which he seemingly did. He laid his pistol down in order to iron him, when the man seized it, and pointed it at the officer. The latter thereupon drew another revolver. The two remained a moment aiming at each other, when Graves turned and ran for the woods. The officer fired several times, but did not hurt him. He was finally overtaken, when a bloody and desperate fight took place. The man fought with clubs, stones and anything he could command, and until he was completely covered with blood, and so perfectly bruised and cut to pieces by the officer that he could no longer make a show of resistance. Finally, when taken and ironed, he begged the officer to shoot him, or give him a pistol that he might end his own life; knowing, as he did, that if it was not ended then it would be in a few months hence on a scaffold in Pennsylvania.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.—To cure CONSUMPTION the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucuous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is nutricous as well as medicinal, and by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all diseases. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic syrup to act on the respiratory organs, properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well.

EDITORIALITIES, LOCAL AND GENERAL.—A new town clock has been placed on the Court House at Hollidaysburg.

An old bear and her cub were shot and killed near Newton Hamilton, on Friday week.

Thanksgiving day is just two weeks distant, and no one has said turkey to us yet. Is nobody going to?

A joint stock company is now being formed in Hollidaysburg for the purpose of building an immense hotel in that place.

Union township, in Clearfield county, seems to be very appropriately named. There were no less than three weddings there within ten days recently.

Mr. Patrick Carey, residing near Tyrone, Blair county, recently sold 100 heads of cabbage which weighed altogether 1800 pounds. He has 1000 heads more of the same kind left.

Washington Isett was convicted in the Blair county Court, week before last, of committing a rape on Mrs. Levina Wilt, of Allegheny township, on the 3d of October last.

Mr. Baughman, a clothier of Latrobe, while on a peddling tour in Ligonier Valley, had his wagon broken open on the night of the 20th ult., and $600 worth of goods taken therefrom.

In publishing the List of Jurors in our last issue we inadvertantly stated that Court would commence November 2d. Of course it will be readily understood that we meant December 2d.

Charles Bogen, a Prussian by birth, and a soldier in the late war, as was ascertained by papers in his possession, was struck by a freight engine on the Pa. R. R., on Friday last, near Shadyside Station, and instantly killed.

Our young friend, George F. Huff, has become a member of the banking firm of Lloyd Huff & Co., at Latrobe, where he is at present located as business manager. George possesses the attributes of a gentleman and the abilities of a first-class financier, and cannot fail to prosper in his new field of operations.

A terrible case of fatal burning occurred at Turtle creek, on the Pennsylvania railroad. Mrs. Pollock, wife of the Rev. David H. Pollock, feeling chilly, went near the grate. While standing with her back to the fire, the skirt of her dress ignitted, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames, and so badly burned that death ensued in a few hours.

William Johnston, of Altoona, convicted in Pittsburgh, a few weeks since, of dealing in counterfeit money, has been pardoned by the President. His pardon was recommended by ex Senator Cowan, Hons. D. J. Mortell, A. McAllister, J. S. Black, and other prominent men of the State, as well as by very many citizens of Blair and Cambria counties.

The double track of the Pennsylvania railroad has been completed all the way from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia. The extensive section of masonry which has for a long time past been constructing at the Narrows, near Mount Union, has been completed. This was the only break in the double track, and now this great line of communication through Pennsylvania has its double track completed from one end to the other.

Mr. Hugh Gillin, who had the misfortune to lose one of his arms in a railroad accident last spring, which incapacitated him from acting as engineer on our Branch road, removed last week with his family to Altoona, where he is to have charge of a stationery engine in the employ of the Pa. R. R. Co. Mr. G. is a worthy and honest man, and we know that our citizens will join with us in wishing him good luck and good treatment among our whole-souled friends at the foot of the hill.

A Democratic club has been organized at Altoona, numbering over two hundred members. A hall has been secured and well fitted up, and a reading room will soon be added. The following permanent officers have been elected: President, John Carr, Esq.; Vice President, William Malony; Secretary, Wm. J. Shomo; Corresponding Secretary, Alfred Greenwood; Treasurer, Samuel Lloyd, Esq.; Executive Committee, James Lowther, Col. John Woods, J. B. Warfell, Esq., J. H. Roberts, George Randolph.

Mr. Robert Drumgold, of Altoona, (father of John and —— Drumgold,) at present employed as bricklayers on the new Catholic church in this place,) died very suddenly on Thursday afternoon last. He had went to his work as usual in the morning, but in an hour or two afterwards was seized with a pain in his stomach, which gradually ascended to his breast and throat, and seems to have strangled him to death. He remarked to his wife in the morning that he had not felt in better health for six months previous. His age was about 68 years.

The barn, stable, and carriage house occupied by Mr. Perry G. Trout, of Leamersville, Blair county, about five miles from Hollidaysburg, were destroyed by fire on Saturday morning week. Three horses and two mules perished in the flames, and an immense quantity of hay, oats, wheat and rye, a mower and reaper, windmill, harness, 10,000 feet of palings, and other valuable property, were consumed. Loss between five and six thousand dollars. No insurance. The buildings and part of the grain and hay belonged to the heirs of Samuel Leamer, dec'd. The work of incendiaries.

The sneak thieves have already commenced operations in our midst, which may be taken as an indication of the near approach of winter. On Tuesday night of last week a hind quarter of beef, weighing something over one hundred pounds, mysteriously disappeared from the wash house of Mrs. E. Shoemaker, in this place, and whither it has gone has not yet transpired. A number of chickens belonging to Mr. E. Glass were also stolen one night last week. Our citizens will do well to examine their locks and other fastenings, and get their shooting irons ready, as the probabilities are that depredations of this kind will not be unfrequent this winter.

A HINT TO YOUNG LADIES.—
With a smile that is sweet,
And a form that is neat,
If your conduct's discreet,
You can tempt young men to marry;
But to add to the rest,
You should always be dress'd
In goods cheapest and best,

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, Nov. 11, 1867.

Dear Freeman—A man named Barret was last week arrested for attempting to shoot the proprietor of a lager beer saloon on Canal street. It appears Barret was considerably under the influence of liquor, and becoming engaged in a quarrel with the landlord, he drew a revolver, but ere he had time to use it some persons in the room disarmed him, and information of assault with attempt to kill being made against him, he was, after a hearing and in default of bail, sent up.

Another individual was last week arrested for trying to utter counterfeit money. He had passed a one dollar note of U. S. currency, and upon being arrested, shortly afterwards, another note of the same denomination was found upon his person. These counterfeits are well executed, but it would not require an expert to detect the difference in the paper from the genuine. The alleged "shover" had a hearing on Saturday, but the Justice reserved his decision until to-day.

Several persons who were formerly employed at the rolling mill in this place are said to be among the killed and wounded by the unfortunate accident in Pittsburgh, last week. John Murphy, a young man who left this place some two weeks ago to work in the rolling mill where the terrible accident occurred, is reported as killed.

I understand that a new iron bridge is to span the Conemaugh river, in the vicinity of the old aqueduct, which will be erected by and for the use of the C. I. Co. as a railroad bridge.

I had intended making a few remarks about the many recent improvements which have taken place, or are in progress in this locality, but have concluded to defer them until another occasion.

Rev. M. Dominec, of Pittsburgh, administered the sacrament of confirmation yesterday in the English and German Catholic churches. An aggregate of about four hundred were confirmed.

S. B. was much pleased to greet his friends W. A. Kelly of Loretto and Jas. B. Zahm of Ebensburg, who paid our town a pop visit yesterday. They are both shining examples to those unsophisticated youths who are seeking a model by which to steer clear of the shoals and quicksands of this sublunary "kel'ntry," although a fair friend informs me they don't understand the shaking process. May their shadows lengthen.

SKU BAL.

DIME SAVINGS BANK.—We understand that this institution is now fairly organized, and will be opened for the transaction of business next week. We congratulate the officers on their good fortune in securing as their cashier so elegant and accomplished a gentleman as A. C. MULLIN, Esq. A more thorough business man or accomplished gentleman could not have been found, and under his management we predict a prosperous future for this institution. Mr. Mullin is a lawyer by profession, but for several years occupied the responsible position of private secretary to Governor Curtin.—Ashland Advocate.

Our friend Steele certainly does not overrate the capacity and worth of Mr. MULLIN. Our only regret is that the peculiar talent of our friend did not find suitable remuneration at home. Indeed, we can ill spare Aleck from our own contracted sphere, and his absence from us will leave a void not soon to be filled. We can assure our Ashland friends that high as Mr. MULLIN stands from his record, their good opinion will be enhanced by actual contact with him in the business and social circle. They will find him a competent and correct officer and a high-minded, honorable man.

VISITORS.—We had the pleasure, the other day, of taking by the hands our Philadelphia friends, Thomas J. Barger and Theodore M. Apple, both apparently in a state of high physical comfort—the former enjoying the election returns and the latter enduring them like a Christian. They both have our very best wishes.

By the way, Mr. Apple, mindful of our antiquarian propensities, (which once acquired for us the sobriquet of Jonathan Oldbuck,) has sent us a specimen brick from the original residence of William Penn in Philadelphia. It is an old fashioned brick, or tile, about the thickness of an ordinary brick, and some eight inches square. Diagonally across this brick is the following:—"From Penn's Mansion House, built 1696; demolished 1867." We accept it as a good old brick, but not any better than the whole-souled gentleman who furnished us with it.

$250 REWARD.—In addition to the $50 dollars reward offered by the father of the murdered boy, we are glad to notice that Sheriff Myers has offered a reward of $200 for the apprehension of the atrocious murderer, Cyrus Thompson, who shot and killed the son of Mr. Daniel McDonald, in Cambria borough, on the evening of the 31st October. Thompson is described as a man apparently about 36 years of age, is about 5 feet 10 inches high, weighs about 150 pounds, has dark eyes, black hair and dark complexion, wears a moustache and goatee, is addicted to drink, and had on when he left a stiff-rimmed low crowned hat and a soldier's long blouse. We sincerely hope that the villain may be captured. Mr. McDonald and his estimable family have our heartfelt sympathy in the great affliction which has befallen them.

COUNTY OFFICERS.—We should have noticed last week the fact that John A. Kennedy, Esq., the newly elected Commissioner, had entered upon his duties. He will make an efficient and faithful officer. The Board now consists of John Campbell, Esq., Conemaugh borough, John Ferguson, Esq., Blacklick township, and John A. Kennedy, Esq., Carrolltown. The retiring Commissioner, Lieut. Dunegan, has embarked in the mercantile business at St. Augustine, and will doubtless meet with success. He deserves to prosper, and those who know him best will not forget to patronize him.

William H. Sechler, Esq., has been re-appointed Clerk to the Commissioners, F. P. Tierney, Esq., Counsel, and Alex. Skelly Mercantile Appraiser. The right men in the right places.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.—William Boland, of Clearfield township, while in the act of drawing a loaded gun towards him which had slipped from his hands, on Thursday last, was dangerously wounded by the contents being discharged into his person—the ball entering his left breast and passing out at his back. He is in a critical condition, though his attending physician, Dr. Doyle, hopes for a favorable result.

MR. MICHAEL HUGHES.—We had the gratification, on our recent visit to New York, of meeting an old friend in the person of Mr. Michael Hughes, an elder brother of the late venerable Archbishop. Mr. Hughes is enjoying a green old age, and may live to see many birth days yet. Formerly a Pennsylvanian, he takes a lively interest in the news from the Keystone State.

BOOK NOTICES.

"COMETH UP AS A FLOWER" is the title of an autobiographical story of the richest kind just issued by D. Appleton & Co., New York. The London Times speaks of it with great praise. Its chief merits consist of the powerful and vigorous manner in which it is told, in the exceeding beauty and poetry of its sketches of scenery, and in the soliloquies, sometimes quaintly humerous, sometimes cynically bitter, sometimes plaintive and melancholy, which are uttered by the heroine. It is written by a lady—a new hand—and is said to be so extraordinarily good that whenever you begin it you cannot lay it down again, hardly even when it is finished. New York: D. APPLETON & Co. Price, 60 cents.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—This very popular and exceedingly cheap Magazine presents an attractive table of contents for December. Amethyst Wayne's charming story, "The Derwent Eyes and Hair," is completed; Mrs. Edson's exciting serial, "The Lady of Lindenwold," is intensely interesting, while "Paul's Romance," by Miss Hale, and "My Darling," a poem, by James Franklin Fitts, are among the choicest of magazine reading. The illustrations are also remarkably good, making this one of the best numbers of Ballou ever issued.

The publishers offer unusual attractions for the coming year. With the January number the Magazine will be enlarged to one hundred pages, and several new and attractive features introduced. Miss Willian has written a romance entitled, "So as by Fire," which will commence the year. Amethyst Wayne will furnish an exciting serial story for Boys, entitled "Old Hugh's Look-off," which will be finely illustrated by Kilburn, and will appear in the new department, called "Our Young People's Story-Teller;" a popular author will furnish a charming story for Girls, while there will be at least a dozen other stories and poems of the highest literary excellence, and intensely interesting, all complete in the January number.

It will be seen from the foregoing that Ballou's Magazine for 1868 will eclipse its present excellence, while the extraordinary low price is retained. It is only $1,50 per year, or 15 cents a number. Clubs receive it for $1.25. The Proprietors have good cause for calling it "the cheapest magazine in the world." Published by Elliott, Thomes & Talbot, Boston, Mass.

USE THE BEST.—Blades' Euphonial Lubricators are a medical preparation in the form of a Lozenge, and are universally considered the most pleasant, convenient and effectual remedy in use for Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, Croups, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Diptheria, and all Pulmonary Complaints. They are WARRANTED to give quicker and more lasting benefit in the above affections than any other remedy. Also to contain no deleterious ingredient, and not to offend the weakest and most sensitive Stomach.

Blades' Constitution Pills are so called because of their peculiar effect upon the Liver, Stomach, Blood and Nervous System. For inactivity of the Liver, for the Stomach in derangement, or Dyspepsia, they will delight the patient with their mild and beneficial effect, especially if after long continued indigestion and costiveness, they are left with periodical returns of the Sick Headache. In case of a severe cold, producing Chills and Fever, you can break it very soon by using the Pills as per directions with each box. JOHN H. BLADES & CO.,

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—A man some time since was repairing a gas leak, corner of 28th Street and 6th Avenue, New York. He went in to the excavation and then lit a match. An explosion of gas took place, and the man was much burned. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment was applied freely, and in three days the man was about his business in the Manhattan Gas Works as well as ever. His name is Samuel F. Waters. This is one of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Tobias' celebrated Venetian Liniment; it is not only good for Burns, but for old Sores, Bruises, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throats, Cuts, Insect Stings, Pains in the Limbs, Chest and Back; also internally, for Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Dysentery and Croup. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is the best family medicine in the world. Orders are received all over Europe for it. The most celebrated Physicians recommend it—it never fails. Dr. Tobias puts up every drop himself. Sold by all Druggists at 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Depot 56 Cortlandt Street, New York.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—REV. EDWARD A. WILSON will send (free of charge) to all who desire it, the prescription with the directions for making and using the simple remedy by which he was cured of a lung affection and that dread disease, Consumption. His only object is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes that every sufferer will try this prescription, as it will cost them nothing and may prove a blessing. Please address

IT IS NOT TRUE that R. H. Singer intends leaving town, as some will have it, but, on the contrary, intends to carry on the Blacksmithing, in all its branches, stronger than ever. In order to do this it is necessary to employ workmen and buy tools, iron, etc., all of which cost money. Therefore persons indebted to Mr. Singer for work done in '65, '66 and the early part of '67, are requested to call and settle. He feels confident that his customers will not let him stick. 3t.

FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.—It is enough to make juvenile mouths water to see the immense stock of pretty things designed for the amusement and gratification of the little folks, which Cham. Roberts has in store and offers at a great reduction on former prices. Parents remember that Christmas is coming.

GRIM OLD WINTER is pegging away at us with a perfect looseness just now, and seems to intimate very plainly that we had better be purchasing our winter outfits at the cheap store of Mills & Davis, where dress goods, shawls, etc., for the ladies, and clothing for men and boys are kept in great profusion.

WAIT A LITTLE LONGER.—Our energetic mercantile friend, J. M. Thompson, has gone or is about going East to purchase his winter stock, and we advise everybody to keep a sharp look out for the prettiest goods at the cheapest prices that have been brought to our town for many a day.

"EVERY day brings something new" to the great mercantile depot of V. S. Barker, where the best goods, and the greatest variety of them, are offered to buyers at the lowest prevailing prices. He always keeps his stock up and his prices down.

THE engine on our Branch road ran off the track, near town, on Tuesday morning, and as a consequence no train left here until the evening of that day. Owing to this accident our Altoona letter did not reach us in time for publication.

MARRIED.

BUMFORD—HUMPHREYS—On Thursday, 7th inst., by Rev. —— Thomas, Mr. THOMAS BUMFORD and Miss ANNIE HUMPHREYS, both of Cambria township.

WEHN—HARRIS.—On Tuesday, Nov. 5th, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. D. I. K. Rine, assisted by Rev. E. A. Brindley, (Uncle Edward,) of the Pittsburg conference, Mr. H. W. WEHN, of Johnstown, and Miss FLORA, daughter of W. W. Harris, Esq., of Jackson township.

"Sku Bal" congratulates his friend Harry on the delightful termination of his bachelorhood, and as he and his estimable bride are worthy of Heaven's choicest blessings, he can only hope that their future blended lives will be as pleasant as the balmy zephyrs of a dreamy day in Indian summer.

DIED.

RODRIGUE.—At his residence, No. 275 West 11th street, New York, on Tuesday, 5th inst., Mr. WILLIAM RODRIGUE, in the 69th year of his age.

Mr. Rodrigue's illness was painful and protracted, but borne with patience. On Thursday, 7th, after a solemn High Mass of requiem, his remains were interred in the family vault at Fordham College. The deceased was an elder brother of the late Dr. A. Rodrigue, formerly of this place, and brother-in-law of the editor of the Freeman. He stood high as an architect, and was an upright man and sincere Christian. May he rest in peace.

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

PUMPKIN AND APPLE BUTTER.—A correspondent of the Maryland Farmer gives his experience and practice in the manufacture of a kind of mock apple butter, which he says is an excellent article for family use, and more cheaply made than the old-fashioned apple butter. The ingredients for a five or six pail kettle of butter are—2½ bushels of pared and sliced sweet pumpkins, the same amount of pared and cored apples, six quarts of molasses, two pounds of brown sugar, fifteen quinces and a shilling's worth of cinnamon. Having prepared the ingredients, put a pail of clean water in the kettle and add the pumpkin. Boil till fine, then add the apples gradually and stir to keep from burning. When done fine, mix the molasses in warm water and add to the butter. Continue stirring for a time and then add the sugar. When cooked about enough, add cinnamon, and the work is done. The pumpkin is made to supply the place of cider, which now bears so high a price as to make the butter quite expensive. If there is a perceptible pumpkin taste, the addition of a little more molasses and sugar will serve to destroy it, while supplying a very desirable article for family consumption. When cider is used the pumpkin may be dispensed with, as it is only a substitute for that article.

HOW TO SET GATE POSTS.—Take equal quantities of water-lime and quick-lime, and mix with sand as usual; put two or three inches of mortar and coarse gravel in the bottom of the hole, so the end of the post will not come to the ground, then set your post in, top end down; fill in several inches of coarse gravel, pound it down; then more mortar and more gravel, and so on until the cement is raised above the ground several inches around the post. Slant it away from the post in every direction, so as to turn off the water; then take coal tar and a brush, point around the bottom of the post, and fill the interstice between the post and cement with coal tar. [N. B.—Only mix enough mortar for one hole at a time.] Your post will be as solid as if set in stone; it don't heave out with the frost and sag around and pull the boards off, as the water and air cannot get to it.—G. W. C., in Ohio Farmer.

TO MAKE PURE APPLE WINE.—Take good, new cider, fresh from the press; dissolve it in 60 pounds of common brown sugar to each fifteen gallons of cider, and let it settle. Then put this fifteen gallons into a clean barrel, and fill the barrel up with clear cider to within two gallons of being full. Leave the bung out for forty-eight hours; then put the bung in, with a small vent. Let the barrel stand for a year—the wine is then fit for use. It needs no racking. The longer it stands the better. We give the above recipe on the principle on which Moses tolerated concubinage. It is so much better to drink wine without so much poisonous drugs, that costs 20 or 25 cents a gallon, than the vile poisons which costs from $3 to $5 per gallon, that we think the change would be an improvement.—[Indus. and Com. Gazette.

CORN AND HOGS.—The N. Y. Independent says, from carefully conducted experiments by different persons, it has been ascertained that one bushel of corn will make a little over 10¼ pounds of pork—gross. Taking the result as a basis, the following deductions are made which all our farmers would do well to lay by for convenient reference—that:

When corn sells for 12½ cents per bushel, pork costs 1½ cents per pound.

When corn costs 17 cents per bushel pork costs 2 cents per pound.

When corn costs 25 cents per bushel pork costs 3 cents per pound.

When corn costs 36 cents per bushel pork costs 4 cents per pound.

When corn costs 50 cents per bushel pork costs 5 cents per pound.

THE USESS OF CHARCOAL.—Rubbing the teeth, and washing out the mouth with fine charcoal powder will render the teeth beautifully white, and the breath perfectly sweet, where an offensive breath has been owing to a scorbutic disposition of the gums. Putrid water is immediately deprived of its bad smell by charcoal. When meat, fish, &c., from intense heat or long keeping, are likely to pass into a state of corruption, a simple and pure mode of keeping them sound and healthful is, by putting a few pieces of charcoal, each the size of an egg, into the pot or saucepan wherein the flesh or fish is to be boiled.

TO KILL RED ANTS.—A correspondent writing to Forney's Press gives the following directions for killing red ants: Equal quantities of the oil of cedar and turpentine, mixed. Saturate pieces of cotton and flannel and put it where they congregate. I have made use of this and never was troubled with them afterwards.

Another person says: While on a visit at a farm house, I saw thousands of the pests destroyed in the following manner: Place lard on a plate, and set it where the places are infested. As soon as they come in contact with the lard, they belong to the "can't-get-aways."

IF people planting orchards would give orders to mark the north side of the trees with red chalk before they are taken up, and when set out to have the trees put in the ground with their north side to the north in their natural positions, a larger proportion, it is said, would live, as ignoring this law of nature is the cause of many transplanted trees dying. If the north side be exposed to the south, the heat of the sun is too great for that side of the tree to bear, therefore it dries up and decays.

BAKED FLOUR PUDDING.—Take three pints or two quarts of milk; scald to nearly boiling heat, and have six tablespoonsful of nicely sifted flour, braided as for starch, with a little cold milk. Turn the scalding milk on this, carefully stirring to prevent its settling. Beat three eggs and add, with sugar to the taste, and a small piece of butter, and a little salt. Care must be taken not to let it over-do. Grate one nutmeg before serving.

IT is said that the application of six bushels of common salt to each acre will

MEDICAL PREPARATIONS.

POLAND'S
Magic Bilious Powders.

This Preparation is the discovery of Rev. J. W. Poland, formerly Pastor of the Baptist Church in Goffstown, N. H.—a man dearly beloved by that denomination throughout the land. He was obliged to leave the pulpit and study medicine to save his own life, and his MAGIC POWDERS are one of the most wonderful discoveries of modern times. It is the GREAT LIVER and BILIOUS REMEDY, which completely throws in the shade all other discoveries in medicine, and it affords him much gratification that they receive the unanimous approbation of all who have tested them. The Magic Powders are a POSITIVE CURE in LIVER COMPLAINT in its most concentrated form, and an immediate corrector of BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS. Excellent for Headache, Constipation, Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin, Drowsiness, Dizziness, Palpitation, Heartburn, and a most wonderful
Cure and Preventative of Fever & Ague.
(We advise all who are troubled with this fearful malady to always keep the Powders on hand ready for immediate use.)
Here are a few important particulars:—1st. They are the great specific for Bilious Affections. 2d. They are the only known remedies that will cure Liver Complaint. 3d. They are the only known remedy that will cure Constipation. 4th. The Powders are so thorough in their operation that one package will be all that the majority of those using them will require to effect a cure. 5th. They are a mild and pleasant yet the most effectual cathartic known. 6th. They are the cheapest and best medicine extant, as they can be sent by mail to any part of the globe for the price, 50 cents.
Circulars, containing certificates, information, etc., sent to any part of the world free of charge. ☞Sold by all Druggists, or by mail on application to

Price, 50 Cts. per Box. NEW HAVEN, Ct.

COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE!
This great remedy for all DISEASES OF THE STOMACH is the discovery of the inventor of Coe's valuable Cough Balsam, while experimenting for his own health. It cured Cramp in the Stomach for him which had before yielded to nothing but chloroform.
The almost daily testimony from various parts of the country encourage us to believe there is no disease caused by a disordered stomach it will not speedily cure. Physicians endorse and use it. Ministers give testimony of its efficacy; and from all classes we receive tidings of cures performed.
Dyspepsia it is sure to cure. Headache, one dose will cure. Sick Headache is cured in hundreds of cases. Headache and Dizziness it stops in thirty minutes. Acidity of the Stomach it corrects at once. Eating of the Food it stops immediately. Distress after Eating one dose will remove. Chills and Morbus rapidly yields to a few doses. Bad Breath will be changed with half a bottle.
IT IS PERFECTLY HARMLESS!
Its unprecedented success is owing to the fact that it cures by assisting Nature to re-assert her sway in the system.
Nearly every dealer in the United States sells it at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE
